

Interactive Multimedia and Web Technology Engineer

Reports To Director of Development

Description

tracermedia is seeking an experienced technical developer to assist in the development of large scale interactive multimedia projects and Rich Internet Applications. Candidate will participate in the full project life-cycle from requirements gathering to quality assurance to delivery, working closely with project managers, designers, production artists and other team members. Candidate will be responsible for the technical design and programming in addition to coordinating the development tasks of team members.

Requirements

The desired candidate will have a minimum of 5 years experience in developing and implementing creative solutions for a variety of clients. Experience in developing applications for the education market is a plus. Candidate is someone who thinks creatively, works efficiently, and enjoys working in a fast-paced, creative environment. Excellent benefits package including corporate matching toward retirement account and profit sharing.

Skills:

- Advanced Actionscript 2.0 / Actionscript 3.0
- Advanced experience with the Flex framework
- Solid understanding of Object Oriented Programming methodology
- Understanding or experience with Flash/Flex component architecture
- Experience with or knowledge of various web development technologies with a strong skill set in one (Java, .Net, PHP, various database)
- Understanding of continuous integration
- Basic to intermediate media production skills
- Excellent project team communication skills

Responsibilities:

- Actively participate in project development from inception to delivery to maintenance
- Help coordinate development efforts and project timelines
- Work closely with project managers, designers, and production staff
- Constructively contribute to visual design and content development
- Develop project documentation including scope, design, and implementation documents
- Contribute to project estimating efforts
- Meet with project team to help determine project scope
- Contribute to overall company development needs and success

Requirements:

- Bachelors degree in Computer Science or relative experience.
- Professional references are encouraged.

About tracermedia:

tracermedia is an interactive firm with a unique blend of visual and technical capabilities, resulting in innovative multimedia solutions for the world's leading companies and organizations. Founded in 1997 in Columbus, Ohio, tracermedia's current client list includes VideoEgg, Bank One/JP Morgan Chase, McGraw-Hill, Sprint, Abbott Laboratories/Ross Products, Take Two Interactive, the Smithsonian Institution, and Ohio SchoolNet Commission. tracermedia's core service offerings include Interactive Education, Corporate Training, Digital Marketing/Retail, User Interface Design and Gaming Applications.

tracermedia
780 King Avenue, Ste 106 * Columbus, OH 43212
Ph: 614.298.0774 * Fx: 614.298.0776 * jobs@tracermedia.com